

Domaine Dampt Vieilles Vignes 2015

Petit Chablis AOC • France

Chablis is one of the world's most revered wines. While Petit Chablis comes from soils just outside the hallowed area, when it tastes as good as this minerally, citrusy, intense 2015 from a top estate, you'll find it hard to spot the difference.

Dampt quality. Dry but luscious Chablis, good depth. This domaine is one of the best

Online Review for 2014

Although the village of Chablis is tiny, its influence and fame is anything but. So outstanding are the flavours of its Chardonnay wines that it has inspired imitations (which inevitably are never as fine) as far afield as California and Australia. The long established Dampt estate makes textbook Chablis, but it's this wine, from vineyards designated Petit Chablis, that offers the smartest entrée to their range. By employing the same exacting standards of vineyard management as they do for their top wines, the Dampt brothers achieve surprisingly concentrated flavours, classic summer hay aromas, and that all important streak of bone dry minerality. Enjoy this fine Petit Chablis with freshly shucked oysters, wild salmon or grilled Dover sole.

Brothers (left to right) Emmanuel, Eric and Hervé Dampt, among their beloved Chablis vines at harvest time

WINEFILE

STYLE	Light and fruity, bone dry
GRAPE	Chardonnay 100%
COLOUR	Pale green gold
AROMA	Grassy, elderflower and citrus aromas
TASTE	Perfectly balanced, fresh citrus and crisp, clean, minerally flavours
DRINK BY	End 2018
ALCOHOL	12.5%